

General Information Regarding Applied Lesson Registration

- Prior to registering for applied music lessons, students must be given permission from the Music & Entertainment Industry Studies Department. Once permission is approved, students will be notified via their CU Denver email to register through the CU Denver student portal.
- In order to receive permission for applied lessons, students must complete the online "Applied Lesson Request Form" (link below).
- Students will not be given permission to register for applied music lessons until enrollment in PMUS 1500 General Recital has been verified. Exception: Performance and Singer/Songwriter students wishing to add 3000/4000-level Applied Lessons do not need to enroll in PMUS 1500 General Recital if they are following the new Fall 2020 degree requirements. If you have questions about these requirements, email CAMadvising@ucdenver.edu to schedule an advising appointment.
- The MEIS Office will begin to send emails regarding approved applied lesson permissions in June for the Fall semester and January for the Spring semester.
- Students can request an applied lesson instructor. The MEIS Department will work to accommodate all requests with available faculty, but faculty requests cannot be guaranteed.
- Once registered, students will schedule the lesson time/day directly with their assigned applied instructor.
- Applied Lesson request applications are due: June 18, 2021. Applied lesson requests submitted after said date may not be processed and students will not be guaranteed an applied lesson instructor.

Information for Non-Audition Track Students (Music Business pre-2020 or Recording Arts pre-2019)

These guidelines apply only to Music Business (Non-Audition Track) students following pre-Fall 2020 degree requirements, and to Recording Arts (Non-Audition Track) students following pre-Fall 2019 degree requirements. Non-Audition Track students following more recent degree requirements are neither required nor permitted to take applied music lessons. If you have questions about these requirements, email CAMadvising@ucdenver.edu to schedule an advising appointment.

- Non-Audition Track students must complete Music Theory II, Ear Training & Sight Singing II and Piano Class II prior to taking Applied Lessons.
 - Students must be registered for PMUS 1500 General Recital as a co-requisite. This co-requisite will be strictly enforced, and students will be administratively dropped from their applied lessons if not properly registered.
 - Students enrolling in their first semester of non-audition track applied lessons must declare a primary instrument. The primary instrument should be the instrument on which the student is most proficient. Students must complete both required semesters of applied lessons on the same instrument. Students will not be required to study both semesters with the same instructor if there are multiple instructors available.
