

SEED EQUITY AWARD

The Office of the Dean has instituted an annual award to seed efforts that increase awareness of disparities within and across systems, inspire positive change, and work toward creating a more hopeful, just world.

Eligibility and Criteria

Awarded annually during the Spring Welcome Meeting

Open to all CAM employees (except student employees)

Individuals or teams may not win the award in consecutive years

Individuals or teams are eligible to win in more than one category within the same academic year

Recognizes work unfolding during the current and/or upcoming academic year

Awarded $5,000 in project development funds (funds must be spent within the subsequent academic year). Project proposals will be evaluated based on the breadth, depth, and feasibility for expanding knowledge, awareness, and perspectives, or nudging systems, ecosystems, policies, practices, and priorities toward becoming more open, accepting, and embracing of cultural, ethnic, racial, class, abilities, gender, sexual orientation, and other human differences.

Adjudicators

A panel of five adjudicators comprised of three faculty members and two staff members will constitute the adjudication panel.

Proposal Process

To submit a nomination (including self-nominations), please complete this form no later than March 15, 2022.

Submission Form:

Person Making Nomination:

Person Making Nomination Email:

Project Name:

Project Manager:

Project Manager's Email:

Seed Equity

Tell us in 250 words or less

How will your project contribute knowledge, awareness, and perspectives, or nudge systems, ecosystems, policies, practices, and priorities toward becoming more open, accepting, and embracing of cultural, ethnic, racial, class, abilities, gender, sexual orientation, and other human differences?

Please attach supporting documents, including but not limited to planning documents, proposed outcomes, budget, letters of support, list of collaborators, other sources of funding (if any), etc.